(a) Network Management Practices: In the interest of providing the best online experience possible for all of Valley FiberCom's customers, Valley FiberCom utilizes reasonable network management practices tailored to achieve legitimate network management purposes. Because bandwidth is a limited resource for broadband Internet service providers, it is essential that Valley FiberCom reasonably manages its network to promote the use and enjoyment of the Internet by all of Valley FiberCom's customers. By engaging in reasonable and responsible network management, Valley FiberCom prevents its customers from being subjected to the negative effects of spam, viruses, security attacks, network congestion, and other risks that threaten to degrade service. The network management practices employed by Valley FiberCom are consistent with industry standards.

(b) Congestion Management: Valley FiberCom does not employ any congestion management tools, practices and/or software on network traffic.

(c) Application-Specific Behavior: Valley FiberCom does not make use of any application-specific network management practices. FiberCom does not favor, modify, inhibit, rate control or block any specific protocols, protocol ports or fields, or any applications or classes of applications.

(d) Device Attachment Rules: In order for a device to be approved for use on Valley FiberCom's network, the device must conform to publicly available industry standards and be non-harmful to FiberCom's network.

(e) Security:

(i) Valley FiberCom offers its customers unrestricted access to all of the lawful content, services, and applications available on the Internet. Valley FiberCom uses industry standard tools and generally accepted best practices and policies to protect our customers from spam, phishing, and other unwanted or harmful online content and activities. In the instances where these tools and policies identify online content as harmful or unwanted, the content may be prevented from reaching customers, or customers may be permitted to identify or inspect content to determine if it is harmful or unwanted.

(ii) Traffic on Valley FiberCom's network is authenticated; however, individual network users are allowed to adjust and control spam and other personal email delivery settings. The authentication measures in place on Valley FiberCom's network should not interfere with an end user's ability to run specific applications.

(iii) To ensure added security protection for network users, Valley FiberCom has SecureIT services available for a minimal monthly fee. The SecureIT services available from Valley FiberCom include protection against computer viruses and spyware, pop-up blockers, parental controls, personal firewalls and PC cleanup.

(f) Performance Characteristics:

(i) Valley FiberCom offers broadband Internet access service via Ethernet across its fiber network. Ethernet is a high-speed data service that provides end-to-end transmission using Ethernet packet technology.

(ii) The advertised speed of Valley FiberCom's Internet service is the maximum speed achievable with the technology utilized by Valley FiberCom. While the maximum advertised speed is attainable for end users, several factors may affect the actual speed of Valley FiberCom's Internet service offerings, including, but not limited to: the end user's computer, router, activity during peak usage periods, and other Internet traffic.

(iii) In gauging network performance, Valley FiberCom utilizes a variety of testing mechanisms, including, but not limited to: EXFO, JDSU and Fluke, Calix Systems and SDN Communications.

(iv) Based on Valley FiberCom's internal testing measures, during peak usage periods (i.e., between 7:00 p.m. and 11:00 p.m. on weeknights) Valley FiberCom's end users achieve speeds nearly equivalent to their subscribed bandwidth tier. Valley FiberCom monitors network traffic during peak usage periods to ensure the broadband facility is sufficiently sized to accommodate all network activity. Latency on Valley FiberCom's network has been tested and qualified by the State of South Dakota and falls within industry standards.

(v) On its website, Valley FiberCom has made available the tools and resources to end users for the purpose of conducting speed tests on their Internet service. For more information on these tools, please visit:

<http://speedtest.sdncommunications.com/>

(vi) The actual speeds achieved with Valley FiberCom's Internet service offering make Valley FiberCom's Internet service suitable for real-time applications, such as Voice over Internet Protocol ("VoIP").

(vii) In terms of specialized services, Valley FiberCom offers Internet Protocol Television (i.e., IPTV) and a Transparent Local Area Network Service (i.e., TLS). The specialized services offered by Valley FiberCom do not affect the last-mile capacity available for, and the performance of, Valley FiberCom's broadband Internet access service. FiberCom continually monitors the bandwidth capacity and availability and has future plans to deploy additional capacity in order to meet network demand.

(g) Spam Filter. Valley FiberCom provides spam filtering services in connection with each Customer's email address. Details of this service are listed on www.valleyfibercom.com.

Valley FiberCom's network management practices as discussed herein are intended solely to provide the best online experience possible for all of Valley FiberCom's customers by safeguarding our network and its users from spam, viruses, phishing, and other unwanted or harmful online content and activities. Valley FiberCom's network management practices are not intended, nor implemented, to block consumers from accessing the content and applications of their choice, deprive consumers of their entitlement to competition, or discriminate against or in favor of certain network traffic. End users with questions, concerns or complaints regarding FiberCom's network management practices are encouraged to contact Valley FiberCom for issue resolution.

Further, if you believe that Valley FiberCom is in violation of the FCC's Open Internet Rules, you may file either an informal or formal complaint with the FCC.
